

Dear Friends,

A big thank you to everyone who has shared stories and concerns with us and contributed to our fundraising efforts! Together, we are shedding light on the biased political education rampant in our schools and standing up for our children's well-being.

With so much in the news about Critical Race Theory, hypersexualization, and shrinking standards in our schools, it is easy to be overwhelmed or think, "How can I make a difference?" and, "This would never happen in our community." We are here to advocate for your children and empower you to stand up for what is right. Here are some ways you can help:

ASK your children about what is going on in their classrooms.

SHARE stories of radical teachers and school administrators with us.

STAND UP for what you believe in.

Happening Now

School has been in session less than eight weeks in the metro Atlanta area and we have already received stories such as the following:

A list of vocabulary words given to an eighth grade civics class at Lovett included the words, "ableism, ally, bigot, gender equality, and safe space."

Eighth grade students at Atlanta Academy were given a Privilege Test with statements such as, "When I go to the store, people believe I am trustworthy and will not steal something" and "Using public bathrooms is easy for me."

The Westminster Schools' recent attempt to put trackers on students for contact tracing has been unsuccessful. Keep advocating for your kids! Our voices are being heard.

Seventh grade students at St. Martin's School were encouraged to come out as bisexual in "conversation circles" facilitated by their teacher.

We have received so much support and we are working to put donation dollars to work. Our billboards are highly visible in Buckhead, and you may have seen our mobile billboard cruising by a certain football game recently.

We are just getting started in the fight to restore non-political education to our schools. Here's a few ideas of what we will be working on next:

CONTINUING to expose extreme viewpoints in schools and empowering parents to take action.

PROMOTING our message through physical and electronic media.

COORDINATING a fundraising event with special guests to help guide us in our mission.

We want to hear from you! Share what is happening in your child's classroom, any success stories of standing up to the political agenda, and how you would like us to help you hold your child's school accountable.
